SPONSORSHIP PACKAGE

---

Venue:

Institute for Glycomics, Griffith University
Glycomics 1 (G26)
1 Parklands Drive
Southport QLD 4215

After a 2 year pause, Queensland Mass Spectrometry Symposium is back in 2021 for face-to-face networking around the cutting edge research & applications of mass spectrometry in Queensland. The two-day program will incorporate poster and networking sessions as well as workshops, in sunny Gold Coast.

Host venue

The Institute for Glycomics is based at the heart of Griffith University's Gold Coast campus in Queensland and plays an integral role as part of the emerging Gold Coast Health and Knowledge Precinct. The Institute boasts state-of-the-art facilities combined with some of the world's most outstanding researchers with a focus on 'Glycomics', a constantly expanding field that explores the structural and functional properties of carbohydrates (sugars). The Institute's research primarily targets prevention and cures for cancers, infectious diseases and neurodegenerative disorders, with a focus on translational research which will inevitably have a positive impact on human health globally.

Programming

The symposium will showcase Queensland mass spectrometry expertise through oral and poster presentations. Conversely, the symposium will bring the latest mass spectrometry technology and workflow to the research community. There will be ample opportunities for networking during refreshment breaks, poster session and the symposium mixer.

All Queensland researcher and users of mass spectrometry technology will be invited to participate at the symposium, with topics including:

- Proteomics, post-translational modifications
- Metabolomics, lipidomics
- Systems biology
- Elemental analysis
- Isotope ratio measurement
- Instrumentation and ion chemistry
- Clinical applications
- Veterinary and agricultural applications
- Food science
- Toxicology, environmental and geoscience applications

Technology workshops

Workshops showing leading edge technology and applications will be hosted by Gold Sponsors.

Each sponsorship package has been created to maximize the opportunities of our unique venue and greater network to deliver the biggest impact for the sponsor.
